For the participation in the above project.

Our interest is that she is the selected woman in our company in order to participate at this program. This is based on her career, commitment to the organization and her professional impulse so we want to bet on it to achieve a highest responsibility working position.

Though, besides recommending her to participate at the program, we commit ourselves, as a company, to actively pursue her working promotion to a highest responsibility and more visibility observing in all cases the internal promotion criteria of the organization.

This commitment is in turn aligned with our objective as a company to promote - and put the means to make it happen - that there are more and more women in positions of greater responsibility so that Spanish companies, and society as a whole, are benefit from greater gender diversity in their organizations.
